CORPS SECURITY WINS UXBRIDGE COLLEGE

Security services specialist continues to drive growth in the education sector

Corps Security, one of the UK's premier suppliers of security and support services, is delighted to have secured another prestigious education facility to its growing portfolio of sites in the sector. Corps Security took over the contract on 1st September 2009.

Uxbridge College is a further education facility accommodating over 10,000 students from the age of 16 onwards. Corps Security will be providing a front of house service to ensure the safety and security of staff and students on both the Uxbridge and Hayes campuses. In addition to officers in the buildings Corps Security personnel will be manning gates and patrolling car parks using a combination of electronic and manned guarding techniques.

Uxbridge College is one of a number of education contracts held by Corps Security. The others include Wakefield College and Walsall College and we will drive continuous improvements to the service offered on all of these sites by sharing experience and insights learnt at each during scheduled contract reviews.
